

Maj Gen Mary Saunders, USAF
Vice Director
Defense Logistics Agency

“Professionalism”

You must take personal accountability and responsibility for your life, personally and professionally, according to Maj Gen Saunders.
The world is consistently changing and you have to change with it in order to keep up.
The attitude of always doing things the way it used to be done doesn't work today.
Being a professional means you have to know how to project yourself in your environment
by knowing your job and the external things that affect it.
If we all would just recognize the following, moving forward would be much easier..

“Life is not fair. It just is. If it gives you lemons make lemonade”